

Three-year-old shimmy
is a really big boy.
He has payos and a kippah
and he loves to play with toys.

He can pull his sweater on,
put his socks on by himself.

He can clean up in a jiffy,
put his toys back on the shelf.

He can bring the baby's bottle
and pat her face, which she enjoys,

and the brachos that he makes
are loud and clear and full of joy.

But there's one thing big-boy Shimmy finds he simply cannot do.

Can you guess? It's something hard...
Maybe you feel that way too.

School is over for the day—
today was extra fun!
There was a birthday party in Shimmy's class
with lots of nosh for everyone.
